

LEAF BIOGRAPHY

Dr. Doreen Szollosi has been a Ledyard resident since 1984, graduating from Ledyard High School in 1999. Originally wanting to be a veterinarian, Dr. Szollosi earned a B.S. in Animal & Veterinary Science from the University of Rhode Island in 2002 and a Ph.D. in Pathobiology from Brown University School of Medicine in 2007, specializing in the field of inflammation and immunosuppression. In 2010, Dr. Szollosi joined the University of Saint Joseph School of Pharmacy in Hartford, CT as a founding faculty member, teaching infectious disease, immunology, and scientific writing to first and second year pharmacy students. She frequently includes students in her research on novel anti-inflammatories. In wanting to give back to her alma mater, Dr. Szollosi served on the Ledyard Board of Education from 2014-2016, and has a son who attends Gallup Hill School.
